Pageant Scene Depicts One Washington Visit To County

George Washington's second visit to Adams county, a night spent at the Russell tavern, north of Gettysburg, will be depicted in one of the scenes of "Freedom's Frontiers," the historical spectacle to be presented on the evenings of August 30 and 31 and September 1 and 2 in connection with the county's Sesqui-centennial celebration.

On July 21, 1791, Washington crossed the southeastern corner of the present Adams county, passing through Littleton on his way from Mt. Vernon to Philadelphia. He had spent the previous night in Taneytown and stayed that night in York.

In 1794 the "Whisky Rebellion" in the western part of Pennsylvania called Washington again to this section. On his return from putting down this rebellion he passed along the Marsh Creek road.

By RELMAN MORIN

Tokyo, Tuesday, Aug. 15 (AP)—Thrusting underwater bridges across the Nakdong river, the North Korean Reds probed today for an imminent drive on Taegu by an estimated 60,000 men on this fifth anniversary of Korea's liberation from Japan.

A summary issued early today by General MacArthur's Tokyo headquarters placed the threat near Waegwan, 12 miles northwest of Taegu, main forward American base on the central front of South Korea.

There, it said, the Reds were believed to have completed a second underwater bridge. Such stone and log crossings are sunk about a foot below the surface to escape detection from the air.

Yanks Counterattack

Twenty-three miles south of Taegu, the American 24th Infantry division counterattacked and shoved the Red Fourth division back 1,000 yards to a mile. MacArthur's summary, however, said the enemy still was moving reinforcements to the river's east bank in that sector southwest of Changnyong.

The greatest threat, however, was around Waegwan, where the Reds were assembling their largest force.

It is believed to be the most effective mass drawn from 15 divisions—150,000 men—the Reds had shoved up to the long, curling battlefield. And it greatly outnumbered anything the Allies have to oppose them.

To Mark Anniversary

A Red attack down the Taejon-Taegu mountain valley corridor was expected momentarily. Tuesday is the fifth anniversary of the liberation of Korea from Japan. Such anniversaries are likely occasions in oriental reckoning for demonstrations of strength.

As the Red thousands assembled west of the Nakdong river, American troops recaptured muddy slopes on the allied eastern side of the stream from some of the 12,000 Reds who crossed the river at Changnyong, 23 miles south of Taegu.

The Communists have been trying to break out from their Nakdong river-crossing bulge for eight days. Their objective is Pusan, No. 1 Korean port in the southern 55 miles from Taegu.

Point Blank Fire

The U. S. 24th division, moving up behind 45-ton Pershing tanks, attacked the river-crossers at dawn Monday. They shoved the North Koreans back from 1,000 yards to a mile along a flaming six-mile-long sector on the allied eastern bank of the river.

Point blank, high velocity fire met the attacking Americans. Intelligence officers said the Communists had managed to get artillery and possibly some tanks over the river.

As weather cleared after rain, Navy planes, firing new 11.75-inch rockets for the first time in anger, hit the Reds. They destroyed bridge with the new weapon and blasted Communist tanks and gun positions.

Marines Take Hills

At the deep south anchor of the battleline, U.S. Marines took hills just outside rubbled Chinju. U.S. 25th Infantry Division troops poked through the hinterland looking for a battalion of Reds cut off by the smashing American offensive of last week that practically destroyed the Red Sixth Infantry Division around Chinju.

At the other end of the 140-mile battleline, American infantry and tanks still held the U.S. airstrip six miles south of Pohang, No. 2 east coast port on the Sea of Japan. Planes no longer used the field, however.

Pohang port was in the hands of a Red battalion but South Koreans were challenging them there; at Kigye, nine miles northwest, and at other points in the Pohang area.

Red Elite Divisions

Intelligence officers at General MacArthur's headquarters said both the Pohang onslaught and the Changnyong river crossing were designed to drain off as much Allied (Please Turn to Page 2)

START PROBE OF LUZERNE VOTING

Seranton, Pa., Aug. 14 (AP)—The government today opened an investigation of Luzerne county political associates of former Judge John S. Pine, Republican nominee for governor.

After receiving instructions from Federal Judge John W. Murphy, the 23-member Federal grand jury is expected to hear at least 50 witnesses summoned by the U. S. Department of Justice to determine whether there were illegal contributions and expenditures in the recent Republican primary election for U. S. senator.

If Luzerne county Republican politicians engaged in a "racket" in operation of GI schools as charged by Richardson Dilworth, Democratic candidate for governor, Federal funds are used to pay tuition fees of former servicemen attending GI schools.

What link, if any, exists between Pennsylvania politicians and organized gambling insofar as political contributions are concerned. Whether there were income tax evasions on the part of politicians who may be involved in the investigation.

The jurors were ordered into extraordinary session to receive what was described officially as "certain presentments." Sources close to the proceedings and declining to be identified by name reported the anticipated direction of the investigation.

DEVOTES LIFE TO AIDING BLIND

Pittsburgh, Aug. 14 (AP)—A young college educator whose two infant children were born blind today had given his ambition of becoming a college professor to devote his life to the education of the sightless.

Alton G. Kloss took over as superintendent of the Western Pennsylvania School for the Blind. He resigned as director of admissions at Thiel college in Greenville so he could accept the job. Thirteen months ago Kloss and his wife became parents for the second time. Twin baby sons were born prematurely.

Shortly afterwards the couple learned the tots had been born blind. They suffered from retrolental fibroplasia, an eye malady frequently occurring in premature babies and usually incurable. In Western Pennsylvania School for the Blind 45 of 60 children of pre-school age suffer the condition.

Kloss and his wife have moved into the superintendent's home with their 3½ year old daughter Joyce, whose eyesight is perfect.

As superintendent, Kloss is succeeding B. S. Joice who has headed the school 28 years and who is resigning. Joice is training his successor for the position.

Coffey was arrested by police Sgt. Willard Garton and Patrolman Robert Wilson during an early morning check of Margate bars set off on the request of Philadelphia police.

strength from the central front as possible.

The Reds have put four elite divisions on the Waegwan line. They kept throwing out probing arms, hunting for weak spots in the Allied defense works.

The U. S. 8th Army in Korea said at 8:10 p.m. Monday (5:10 a.m. EST) the 7th Regiment of the U. S. First Cavalry Division "annihilated" a force of 500 North Koreans that sneaked across the river. Another force of 300 was attacked by the foot cavalrymen later and driven to the river.

A strong Red attack against the South Korean First Division in the Waegwan area was cut to bits by the Allied infantrymen, the communiqué said. The 8th Army summary said the South Korean Sixth Division had trapped an enemy battalion to the east of the First Cavalry Division along the Nak-tong front.

SCRIBE DEFINES "COMMUNISM" FOR YOUNG GIRL

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

A young woman of Cincinnati's "younger generation," who someday "will help to run the government of this great country," wants guidance.

For one thing she is told to fear communism, but: "I don't know what communism is, so how can I fear it or fight it. What is communism?"

Well, Miss Betty, America can be proud of a younger generation which wants to play its part in government. But what a question to be answered in the short space of our column! However, let's have a go at it, and in plain talk.

Would Dominate World

Present day communism mustn't be confused with the original which was conceived centuries ago. The old brand was in many respects a beneficent ideology. It abolished all private property and set up a community in which everyone shared equally in everything. In some cases even wives were shared.

Soviet communism or Bolshevism, is international in scope and it is militant. The fountain head is Moscow, whence come all fundamental laws. Countries which become Communist must abandon nationalism and surrender their sovereignty to Moscow. Their allegiance belongs there.

Beneficent aspects of the old-time communism have been prostituted to fit the propaganda needs of a Russian imperialism which openly seeks world domination. Thus current communism is a new ideology created to meet a new situation.

Regimentation and Purges

Communism is the opposite of capitalism and private initiative, such as exist in democratic countries. The state controls all resources and means of production.

There is regimentation of the individual in all activities. The completeness of this is shown in the fact that even artists, scientists, dramatists, and what not must subscribe. They can't produce anything which doesn't glorify communism or add to Red prestige.

Individuality is largely swallowed up by the state.

Those who evade regimentation are "purged"—that is, they are punished—perhaps sent to labor camps, to prison, or even to death. Those who serve the nation best are rewarded in various ways and may become famous.

Violence Essential

When communism came to power in Russia through the revolution of 1917, it established the "Third International," or Comintern, which was known as the general staff for world revolution. It now is called the Cominform. The object of the Comintern was to carry revolution to every country in the world, to establish Communist governments. This was undertaken by Red agents which we call Fifth Columnists.

Now it's important to note that the Red leaders laid it down that every revolution must be accompanied by violence and bloodshed. This was to impress the importance of the event on the minds of the proletariat.

That's why there has been violence in all the countries which Russia has absorbed as satellites. In some cases there has been no actual revolution, but there have been "purges" of people opposed to the change.

You, ask, Miss Betty, what chances there are of communism spreading in the United States. There is small chance if folks like you take the trouble to find out what communism really is.

JIM HEARN BLANKS PHILS FOR GIANTS

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

James T. Hearn, an unheralded right-hander from Atlanta, Ga., is the top candidate for the baseball bargain of the year honors.

Just two months ago, the St. Louis Cardinals gave up on big Jim. They sold him to the New York Giants for the lowly waiver price of $10,000 after he failed to win a game. Today, it is doubtful if they could buy him back for ten times that amount.

Since joining the Giants July 14, Hearn has made six starts and New York has won five of them, including a 2-0 decision over the Philadelphia Phils yesterday.

Hearn may not hurl the Giants to a flag, but his performance against the National league Phils yesterday couldn't be improved upon. He allowed the hard-hitting Phils four hits, walked one and struck out three. Ken Johnson was the loser. Wes Westrum and Don Mueller knocked in the runs.

The victory gave the Giants an even break in their four-games series with the pacemakers, and a record of 19 wins in their last 23 games.

Despite the loss, the Phils remained five games in front of the second place Boston Braves, who took an 8-2 clobbering from the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Yanks, Red Sox Lose
The Cincinnati Reds dropped the Cards into fourth place as Lefty Ken Raffensberger whipped them, 3-2. The Reds helped themselves to sixth place with assistance from the Pittsburgh Pirates who swept both ends of a doubleheader from the Cubs, 7-4 and 2-0.

The front-running Detroit Tigers discovered a new way to gain ground in the American league race. While they sat idle because of wet grounds in St. Louis, the Bengals saw their hold on first place become a bit more secure as the New York Yankees and Boston Red Sox lost while the Cleveland Indians divided a doubleheader.

A four-hit batting performance by outfielder Paul Lehner and a four-hit pitching effort by southpaw Lou Brissie enabled the Philadelphia Athletics to vanquish the Yankees, 5-2. Vic Raschi was the loser.

Senators Win 6-5
Rookie Al Sima, with the help of reliever Mickey Harris in the eighth, pitched the Washington Senators to a 6-5 victory over the Red Sox. Third baseman Eddie Yost drove in a pair of runs with a single and double and scored twice for the victors.

Sparked by Manager Lou Boudreau's pinch single and Larry Doby's two-run triple, the Indians came from behind to win the opener, 5-2, with a five-run eighth inning. The White Sox tapped starter Dick Weik for five runs in the first inning to win the second game, 7-5. Catcher Gus Narhos' double with the bases loaded cleared the sacks. Ray Scarborough was the winner. Bob Feller won his 11th for the Tribe in the opener.

Detroit, which faces Cleveland in the only American league game tonight, is sitting comfortably with three and a half game leads over the Indians and Yankees. The Yanks hold a one-point edge over the Tribe. The Red Sox are eight games off the pace.

32nd For Kiner
Erv Palica pitched the Dodgers to a two-percentage point margin over the Cards for third place. Pee-wee Reese, Carl Furillo and Palica each clubbed three hits off loser Bob Chipman.

Bobby Adams hit four for four and drove in two runs and scored the other in the Reds' victory over St. Louis. Alpha Brazil was the loser.

Ralph Kiner slammed his 32nd homer of the year and 200th of his career to help Cliff Chambers gain his ninth win for Pittsburgh. Mel Queen fanned 11 Cubs and held them to five hits and no runs in giving the Pirates a clean sweep.

Ray Scarborough was the winner. Bob Feller won his 11th for the Tribe in the opener.

Detroit, which faces Cleveland in the only American league game tonight, is sitting comfortably with three and a half game leads over the Indians and Yankees. The Yanks hold a one-point edge over the Tribe. The Red Sox are eight games off the pace.

32nd For Kiner
Erv Palica pitched the Dodgers to a two-percentage point margin over the Cards for third place. Pee-wee Reese, Carl Furillo and Palica each clubbed three hits off loser Bob Chipman.

Bobby Adams hit four for four and drove in two runs and scored the other in the Reds' victory over St. Louis. Alpha Brazil was the loser.

Ralph Kiner slammed his 32nd homer of the year and 200th of his career to help Cliff Chambers gain his ninth win for Pittsburgh. Mel Queen fanned 11 Cubs and held them to five hits and no runs in giving the Pirates a clean sweep.

KINER SMACKS 200TH HOMER

Pittsburgh, Aug. 14 (AP)—Ralph Kiner, the box office attraction of the last place Pittsburgh Pirates, added another baseball to his private collection today—then said he doesn't think he'll be in the major leagues long enough to eclipse Babe Ruth's all-time output of 714 home runs.

Kiner grinned as he accepted the ball from a fan who had been listening to the Chicago-Pirate radio broadcast and knew how badly the home run king wanted the souvenir. It was the 200th homer the 26-year-old Californian has smashed in his comparatively brief tour of duty in the National league and he'd alerted friends in the radio booth that he wanted "No. 200" for a keepsake.

Ralph took a look at Babe Ruth's record and said he guessed it was "futile" even to think of cracking out 515 more homers. Ruth got 714 in 22 years as a major leaguer, 60 of them in 1927 when he set the season mark which no one has managed to match.

Of the players in the majors today, Kiner has the best chance to crack Ruth's season mark. In his first year with the Bucs in 1946 Kiner hit 23 homers. Then he smashed 51 in 1947, 40 in 1948 and 54 last year.

This season the quiet-mannered slugger who has yet to be called a colorful guy, is three games and two days ahead of his 1949 pace. And that despite the fact he was bothered in the early season by a training camp injury and missed a few games a couple of weeks ago because of a back ailment.

Sports Roundup

By JOE REICHLER
New York, Aug. 11 (AP)—Baseball chatter.

Roy Hamey, general manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, says if the Dodgers lose the flag this season it will be nobody's fault but Brooklyn boss Branch Rickey's.

"Heck," Hamey said, "Rickey had the pennant won last December. All he was worried about was the World Series. How do you think that made the rest of us feel?"

"We decided to show him there were some other clubs in the league. As a result, every club saves its best pitchers for the Dodgers."

Tommy Glaviano, third baseman of the St. Louis Cardinals, can't understand the reason for Al Rosen's sudden slugging spurt with Cleveland.

"It must be that the American is a fast ball league," Glaviano concluded. "That Rosen can powder those fast balls but is a sucker for a curve."

"I remember when we played together in the Texas league, he used to moan every time they threw him a curve ball. That's what kept him in the minors so long."

When reporters ask Philadelphia's Jim Konstanty what he throws to the hitters, the bespectacled relief ace answers with a grin: "junk."

Konstanty's "junk" includes a screw ball, palm ball, slow ball, slider and pretty good curve.

"I don't know what it is," says Jackie Robinson, "but whatever it is, I can't hit it."

Robinson has made but one major league hit off Konstanty, a home run.

Insiders say Harry Breechen, the Cards' stylish left-hander, has requested Manager Eddie Dyer not to pitch him at the Polo grounds. It seems those nearby left and right field fences make him nervous.

They say Dick Kokos, long ball hitting outfielder of the Browns, could become a 300 hitter if he laid off the first pitches. Remember Joe Moore? He made a pretty good living with the Giants nearly two decades ago swinging at the first pitch.

On the 10th inst., by the Rev. B. Keller, Mr. Abner M. Townsley, to Miss L. Wagner—both of this place.

The protracted head of the season has driven thousands of persons from the cities to the various watering places and summer resorts. Saratoga is overflowing full, and it is said that on the 28th ult., no less than 1,180 persons dined at the U. S. hotel. There were some 5,000 visitors in the village. Cape May—destined to become the greatest resort in the Union—has its 6,000 visitors. Newport is also full. The Virginia springs have as many guests as they can accommodate—the White Sulphur alone having between 500 and 600. The travel from the South to the North of late has been very active, and the hotels have had full employment.

We learn from the Stars that the mail on the Menallen route is to be carried twice a week hereafter—on Wednesdays and Saturdays.

Pennsylvania College: We have been politely furnished with the catalogue, for 1850, of the officers and students in Pennsylvania college. From it we learn that there are 142 students in the institution, as follows: Seniors 18, juniors 20, sophomores 12, freshmen 17, partial course 9 and preparatory department 66.

Excursion: On Tuesday morning our town was taken by surprise by the arrival of two large excursion trains, numbering 18 passenger cars, with excursionists from Marietta, Columbia and other points. Few of our citizens knew of the contemplated excursion, and the sudden invasion of the town by a large crowd of pleasure seekers. They brought with them their provisions in baskets and haversacks and wended their way through the streets—some quartering at hotels, most of them seeking various points on the battlefield. The excursionists were accompanied by an excellent band from Marietta. Towards evening the train started for home. Before leaving the band paid The Star and Sentinel office the compliment of a serenade.

The excellent department of the excursionists was the subject of universal remark. On Tuesday there was a singular absence of the unruly or one or two cases of intoxication during the entire day.

GET A NEW BIRTH!

We are familiar with that exhortation in the Bible where it says: "Ye must be born again." Lincoln once spoke of a "new birth of freedom." All of us need new births throughout life. St. Paul spoke of putting away "childish things," when maturity arrived—a new birth of ideas and a new way of life.

Many a man or woman has experienced a new birth after the breaking of bondage to some death dealing habit. A new birth to joy and happiness. I once read of a very wealthy man who had everything that he owned practically wiped out. He had just enough left to buy a small place in the country where he raised flowers and chickens. But he told a friend that he had just started to live!

What this world needs now, more than anything else, is a new birth of values. Why should nations continue to kill each other off? After all that we know of the fiendish tragedy and uselessness of war, why do we still take up with it? How cheaply we hold the civilization that has already cost so much in sacrifices and treasures! Winston Churchill stated not long ago that the second World War could have been prevented. Why wasn't it then? Must the entire world be bathed in blood before we can get that birth of freedom and security for which we all so crave?

Education has taken a wrong turn in the world. Too much to the brain and too little to the heart. There can be no peace of mind until there is peace of heart! Spiritual values have been neglected. There is an inward birth. We can well say that a nation has failed if it has gained the whole world and lost its own soul.

Birthtime is always an outstanding event, no matter how conceived. It can be both in the mind and heart. I may be a birth of ideas that lead to constructive enterprises. It can even be a birth to new appreciations—a love of beauty, of nature, of those less fortunate than ourselves. But whenever, or wherever created, there is new light, new understanding, and new vistas. What a celebration any new birth can be!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "That Inward Urge."

FREEDOM

Fame and Fortune! Goals afar
Every lad ambitious strives for.
Liberty and Justice are What brave men will give their lives for.

Freedom! Far more precious than Fame and Fortune many try for.
It's that heritage of man
Once it's threatened men will die for.

What with money can be bought
Merely pleases those who crave it.
Men for Liberty have fought.
Died, and still will die, to save it.

Prof. Frazer's Lecture: On Saturday evening a respectable and cultured audience had the gratification of hearing Prof. Persifor Frazer's lectures in Agricultural Hall on "York and Adams Counties Before the Existence of Man." The professor had an easy, pleasant address, and seems to be not only thoroughly posted in geological lore, but enamored of the science. He bewitched his hearers with the astounding figures as to the supposed age of the earth, and the existence of life in pre-historic periods. Prof. Frazer got down to the geological formations of York and Adams counties, dwelling largely on the new red sandstone in and around Gettysburg, and the trap rocks which burst through the red sandstone on Seminary and Cemetery hills, Round Top, etc. The lecture was largely illustrated by a number of transparent views thrown onto the screen with the aid of a calcium light, and a number of fine illustrations of the effect of polarized light on different rock formations. Although the lecture was bristling with hard names and unrememberable figures, for full two hours Prof. Frazer held the close attention of his audience.

For Autumn Harvest Sow Early Vegetable Varieties

Quickest maturing vegetable is the early radish which matures in 20 days; and slowest are winter onions which require 115 days.

Between these extremes are other vegetables, which may take, 30, 40, 60 or 80 days to reach the size and quality which best fits them for table use.

In the early spring, these maturity dates are of less significance than later. Early varieties should always be sown for an early harvest, but the late ones also should be sown for fall and winter use.

As summer advances, however, maturity dates become more important, and before sowing any crop the gardener should make sure it has time to mature before winter sets in.

Seed catalogues usually give the maturity date for each variety listed. From your local weather bureau you can ascertain the average date of the first killing frost in your vicinity. Compare these two, and you can easily avoid crops which have no chance to develop fully before winter comes.

Until June 15, however, there are few vegetables which cannot be sown with good chances of a crop. Long season crops are lima beans, broccoli, cabbage, celery, collards, cucumbers, egg plant, kale, leek, onion, parsley, parsnips, peppers, New Zealand spinach, rutabaga, salsify, squash, Swiss chard and tomatoes. After June 15, these may be risky.

Cauliflower and brussels sprouts are fall crops, and seeds should always be sown late.

There are two salad crops which are at their best in the fall—endive and Chinese cabbage. Chinese cabbage which matures in 90 days is difficult to grow in the summer, because it runs to seed, but in the short days of autumn, it makes beautiful, elongated heads of crisp leaves having a suggestion of cabbage flavor which are delicious cooked or raw.

Vegetable crops which should not be sown in June include peas, early radishes, lettuce and spinach. All these require cool weather, and you may sow very early kinds in August, so they will mature in the autumn. Sweet corn is a crop for late sowing. Early kinds may be put in as late as July 1, and the finest corn is often produced by late sown seed.

Quick maturing crops include snap beans, beets, carrots, endive, lettuce, kohlrabi, turnips, spinach, peas and radishes. The later you sow, the "earlier" should be the variety you sow.

As often mentioned in this column, No. 1 among causes of lawn failure is lack of plant food—starvation. But strangely most injurious practices center around this simple yet important factor. First, perhaps, is the widespread idea that applications of lime will cure almost all lawn ills. Therefore, most growers, when they see their grass failing, leap for the lime bag and make a wholesale application. Why?

Speaking in terms of fertilization, lime is not a plant food. Its chief role is to counteract soil acidity, to make soils alkaline. Does the person who applies lime on his lawn know the soil is too strongly acid? Does he have the soil tested for acidity? Is he certain that all lawn grasses require an alkaline soil reaction? All these questions should be answered before lime is considered. In fact, lime is rarely needed. Several species of grass in lawn seed mixtures do better in a neutral or slightly acid soil. Some prefer acid soils. And too, liming often invites weeds to otherwise clean lawns without bringing any benefits.

Often readers write to ask such questions as these: "Are coffee grounds good for lawn grass?" Or even more frequently, "Will soot help my lawn?"

Somehow we have learned to associate soil fertility with black, particularly we who have spent most of our lives outside the red-soil regions. Thus, because soot is black and because coffee grounds are dark brown and almost black, we assume they are rich in plant nutrients. Why do we not apply the same line of reasoning to coal tar or asphalt?

The best form of fertility for failing lawn is found in fertile field or garden loam that contains plenty of moisture-holding organic matter. There has never been found any substitute for fertile loam for repairing hard and shallow lawn soils.

But what about commercial fertilizers? In this role, as in the feeding of all other kinds of plants, fertilizers serve best where the soil is already and otherwise fertile and well balanced.

anced in nutrients and organic matter. Some 6-8-6 fertilizer worked uniformly into the top three inches of soil before lawn seed is sown usually proves beneficial. Too, two or three annual feedings of this same strength fertilizer keep established lawns thriving. But in no instances will commercial fertilizers make hard soils mellow or shallow soils deep or impoverished soils rich. Natural fertility is the answer to these needs.

Perhaps more damage has been inflicted to thrifty lawn grass by the "sprinkling" habit than any other mistake the grower makes. Light applications of water attract grass roots near the surface. There hot sunshine may injure or kill them. If the lawn needs water, soak the soil to a depth of three or four inches once a week in dry weather. But in no case is sprinkling necessary or even safe. These suggestions are based on decades of experience of hundreds and perhaps thousands of successful lawn owners.

Canned sweet potatoes make a quick-and-easy scalloped dish to serve with cold meats. Slice them into a baking dish, season them with salt and pepper, bits of butter or margarine and a sprinkling of brown sugar. Heat them in a moderate oven.

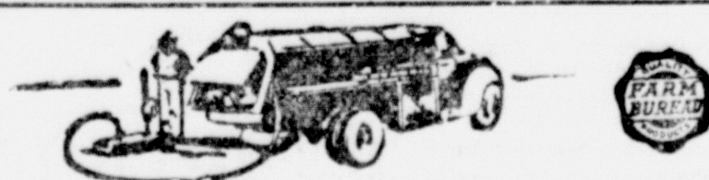

Suggests Ways To Avoid Sales Tax

State College, Pa., Aug. 14 (AP)—A group of taxes was suggested by an economist at the Pennsylvania State College as a means of avoiding imposition of a general state sales tax by the 1951 Legislature.

Both parties agree additional taxes will be needed next year to finance the $500,000,000 veterans' bonus and the Commonwealth's huge building program. Leaders, however, disagree on the amount.

that will be needed.
Dr. Eugene A. Meyers, assistant professor of economics, made these suggestions for levies in an article in the Pennsylvania Business Review, a college publication.

BUILDING WITH RAMMED EARTH

Buildings constructed with rammed earth are common in many parts of Europe, some of which have been standing several hundred years. But for unaccountable reasons this type of construction has never become popular in America. However, there is one example in Washington D. C. reported to be over 170 years old, still in excellent condition.

With lumber, steel, concrete, and other building materials scarce and expensive, farmers particularly should investigate and even experiment with this method. Certainly no other type of material would be so cheap, while experience and observation indicate that the method has other advantages not found in frame and masonry constructions.

Here are a few general suggestions on the subject which will eliminate major doubts about how the work is done and merits of results.

As the name indicates, building with rammed earth consists of tamping a suitable soil mixture into movable forms or frames without the addition of any kinds of "binders" or solidifying materials. The material, for some strange reason, soon takes on the hardness of rock, eventually becoming so hard that the surfaces can be whitewashed, calcolined or coated with other colorings, although they need no protecting coat.

Two main steps are stressed in directions for building structures with rammed earth. First, subsoil is recommended, a soil from which all organic matter (decaying vegetation) is absent. Pure clays, like soils composed of too much sand, will not serve. European builders explain that if subsoils remain firm along the sides of an excavation they are suitable for rammed earth building purposes. Another indication of subsoil satisfactory for this work is by placing a lump of such soil in the sun for a day or so. If it hardens so it cannot be crushed between the fingers it is suitable for building use.

The second step is concerned with the moisture content of the soil. A 12 percent moisture content is considered near the proper consistency. To determine this degree, suitable soil can be dried in an oven and water added accordingly to permit the prospective builder to learn the "feel" of proper moisture content. Weigh into a flower pot (with a drainage hole in the bottom) 8 pounds of soil from which all moisture has been evaporated in an oven. Set the pot in another vessel and pour one pound of water around it. When the soil has soaked up the water, its general consistency will be near that of subsoil with a moisture content ideal for ramming purposes. Or a sample of subsoil may actually be rammed into a solid frame and tested after a few days. If the block does not crack or crumble after continued exposure to the air, it can be used for ramming.

Walls for single-story buildings which are not subjected to heavy loads may be made 12 to 14 inches thick. Falls of the first story of a two-story building should be 18 inches thick and those of the second story 14 inches thick.

Interested readers are invited to write the editor to ask all the questions they desire. Too, they should write their Congressman for free copies of Farmers' Bulletin 1500—Rammed Earth Buildings.

COMMON MISTAKES WITH LAWNS

Among the eight common causes of lawn grass failure listed in our lawn building and care instructions, "Harmful practices" is in seventh place. Several readers who have written the editor for this guide have asked us to elaborate on these.

Inasmuch as time to sow lawn grass seed is only a few weeks away and time to start soil preparations and repair work is already here, the practices which owners should avoid take on timely importance.

The annual orphans' collection will be received at the morning masses next Sunday.

School Notice

The pastor also announced that all those children who will be six years of age on or before February 1, 1951 and who expect to enter the parochial school as beginners in September, must be vaccinated. An invitation was extended to the members of the congregation to attend the annual picnic of St. Mary's of the Immaculate Conception church, Fairfield, on Saturday. Meals will be served from noon until midnight.

Mr. and Mrs. Jason B. Yelton and son, Don Philip, Frederick are spending a week's vacation with her mother and sister, Mrs. W. P. Humbert and daughter, Mrs. Estelle Duce, South Queen street. On Sunday, the group enjoyed a picnic at Caledonia.

Pvt. Charlotte Hall and Pvt. Gloria Rumsdill stationed with the WACS at Fort Hamilton, Brooklyn, N. Y., spent the week-end with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hall, North Queen street.

Successful Picnic

Samuel Snyder, superintendent of the Sunday school of St. Luke's church, White Hall, reports 554 fried chicken and ham dinners were served on Saturday at the annual picnic, beginning at 4 o'clock. A program was held prior to the servings, starting at 2 o'clock, for which Mr. Snyder served as master of ceremonies.

Dr. J. M. Myers, former pastor of the Lutheran congregation spoke briefly and introduced the new Lutheran pastor, the Rev. O. E. Freeman. Addresses were heard from the Rev. Charles B. Rebert, retired Reformed minister residing in Littlestown, a son of St. Luke's Reformed congregation; by the Rev. Paul Levi Foulk, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, Hanover, and by Claude O. Meckley, postmaster at Hanover and an active layman at St. Matthew's Lutheran church, both sons of St. Luke's Lutheran congregation.

The speaking was interspersed with concerts by the Knights of Pythias band of Hanover which also provided music throughout the evening. Four contests were held as follows: peanut scramble, won by Arvilla Martin; balloon blowing contest, won by Gerald Study; pie eating contest won by Donald Weissensale and bubble gum blowing contest won by Harold Flickinger.

Drum Corps Wants Men

The Rev. Dr. Howard Schley Fox, pastor of St. Mark's Reformed church, along the Gettysburg road, has announced that the Rev. John H. Ehrhart, pastor of St. John's Reformed church, Lewisburg, will be guest speaker next Sunday morning. The Rev. Mr. Ehrhart was formerly pastor of the Cashtown Reformed church.

A special invitation is extended by the VFW Drum and Bugle corps to all men of Littlestown and vicinity who are interested in joining the corps, to report to the post home on West King street this evening at 8 o'clock, when the weekly rehearsal will be held. A professional instructor has been engaged by the post and equipment is provided. If interested and unable to report this evening, the men should inform a member of the corps so that plans can be made for the future.

Charles' Title At Stake Tuesday Night

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 14 (AP)—When Ezzard Charles defends his NBA heavyweight title against Freddie Beshore tomorrow night the shadow of Joe Louis will be over the ring.

The negro champion from Cincinnati has everything to lose and little to gain by a victory over the blond Harrisburg, Pa., challenger. Upon the outcome depends a $500,000 September Louis-Charles bout.

Charles enters the ring a 1-5 favorite over the comparatively unknown Beshore, but he can't take any chances. He doesn't intend to, either.

The champion is fully aware that the boxing world will be interested in the effect of his long injury-imposed lay-off. He also realizes Beshore has made the most of the long wait for the twice-postponed fight and kept in trim.

And Urge Every Woman 38 to 52 Years Old to Read This!"

"I had heard so many stories about the functional middle-age period peculiar to women—I hoped I'd escape such symptoms. But I didn't. I found myself terribly embarrassed by hot flushes—I suffered such restless nights, and I could sense myself getting irritable and cranky—due to this cause.

"My druggist recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve such symptoms. I can understand now why he called it 'the woman's friend.' Pinkham's Compound gives me amazing relief. HOPE FADES FOR REYNOLDS HEIR ON MT. WHITNEY

Lone Pine, Calif., Aug. 14 (AP)—In a last-hope search for tobacco heir Christopher Smith Reynolds, mountaineers plan today to scale the forbidden east face of the nation's highest peak, Mount Whitney.

The frozen body of his companion, Stephen Rice Wasserman, was found in a snowy crevasse at the 11,500-foot level yesterday, a week after the two 17-year-old eastern sons had set out to conquer Whitney's toughest side.

Scant hope was held by veteran searchers that young Reynolds is still alive, unless he wandered off for aid for Wasserman. Today's search will be concentrated on higher crevasses of the 14,496-foot peak.

Found At Cliff's Base

Young Reynolds' mother, former torch singer Libby Holman, was ready to fly from Paris. The boy, heir to a $7,000,000 fortune, was born to Miss Holman shortly after her husband, Zachary Reynolds, was mysteriously slain.

Wasserman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Stix Wasserman of Philadelphia and New York, were at nearby Whitney Portal when the body of their son was identified. The father, a millionaire broker and economist, had spent most of the day flying over the area.

Young Wasserman's body was found at the base of the sheer 3,000-foot granite cliff that challenges abundant supply are meats, fats, cooking oils and soap.

A heavy grain crop, said Garver, assures the country of ample meat to provide the highest per capita consumption the nation has ever known.

Replying to a question about the supply of sugar, Smith declared:

"There is far more sugar available than we can possibly use."

He said that local shortages have been caused by panic buying in some areas. This, he said, was because the sugar had been bought up faster than freight facilities could bring it from storage points.

Cuba, Hawaii and Puerto Rico, said Garver, would be delighted to have us take more sugar.

"They have more than they know what to do with," he added.

Prices on canned goods have been forced up, said Smith, because of a buying spree staged by housewives who fear there may be a shortage in these items.

Commenting on it, Garver said that buying of canned goods now in excess of needs would be reflected in a slump later on when housewives are convinced there are ample supplies.

Discussing the coffee situation, Smith said trade reports indicate large surpluses in Brazil and an abundant crop now being harvested.

Garver expressed belief that rationing would be of little benefit now, adding: "When supplies are ample, imposition of rationing only makes people put a higher value on what they can get and encourages black markets."

CONFERENCE ON AGING IS BEING HELD AT CAPITAL

BY JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Aug. 14 (AP)—About 800 people from around the country are meeting here to exchange information and ideas and to make suggestions about the problems of the aged and aging.

Called a "conference on aging," it is the first national meeting of its kind ever held. Significantly, it is described as an "exploratory conference."

Which means those at the meeting will discuss what can or ought to be done about the problem of aging. Whether this results in some single, outstanding step remains to be seen.

For example: Long ago Congress recognized that there should be some single government agency concerned with the problems of children. So the children's bureau was created.

Not Yet Organized

Maybe in time—as an outgrowth of this conference or because of later events—the government will set up a bureau to act as a central source for advice and information on aging problems.

Or, maybe this conference will suggest creation of some non-governmental agency to serve the same purpose. At this time no such central source exists. Because this is so, work and thinking in the field—and there have been a lot of both—are scattered and unorganized. For example:

All 48 states do some work with or for the aged. Suppose you wanted to find out what all were doing. Could you get the information by writing to some central agency in each state? No.

This conference was called by the Federal Security agency—which handles Social security, old age pensions and help for the needy poor—after President Truman suggested it explore the aging problems.

There are a number of those problems which will be stated briefly:

Problem Is Growing

Employment—many firms compel employees to retire at 65, even though they still may be capable of good work; and others, distrustful of the ability of aging people, won't hire them. So many people, not wanting it, are forced into retirement although they have ahead of them useful years for themselves and society. How can employers be persuaded to hire aging people or not make retirement compulsory for those still capable of good work?

Recreation—does an old person slide into a backwater, forgotten and left to fill up as he may the gap left in his life by his retirement from active work?

Medical—there's the problem of more research into what can be expected physically and mentally from old people, how they should be treated. All of this, of course, runs hand in hand with the economic problem of old age; the problem of income.

The aging problem is growing year by year and will continue to grow as more people live longer.

ASKS TRUCE ON PARTY POLITICS

Washington, Aug. 14 (AP)—Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) today demanded "a truce on partisan politics" in dealing with home front mobilization. He did so after two Republican lawmakers assailed the Truman administration's handling of the program.

"I think this is a very poor time for anyone—Democrats or Republicans—to challenge the motives of those who are called upon to make the extremely difficult decisions required," O'Mahoney declared. "This of all times is a time for a truce on partisan politics, for partisan attacks are wholly uncalled for and only serve to weaken us."

O'Mahoney was replying to week-end attacks on the administration by Senators Aiken (R-Vt.) and Martin (R-Pa.).

Aiken predicted easy Senate passage late this week of a House-approved bill which would set up authority for wage-price-rationing curbs, but he said President Truman declined "for political reasons" to ask Congress for those controls.

Mr. Truman did ask for immediate power to allocate materials, set up priorities and curb credit. The bill which the House passed and which appears to face smooth sailing in the Senate would also give him authority, for use when he saw fit, to control prices and wages and impose rationing.

Aiken contended that Mr. Truman has his eye on the November elections and has been "negligent in leaving the American people in the dark about the gravity" of the world situation.

Martin accused the administration of a tendency to play politics with the nation's security, and asked, "Can we wait until after the November elections to tell the people of America the real truth? Can we place votes first?"

B-50 Holding World Flight Record Crashes

Tucson, Ariz., Aug. 14 (AP)—The B-50 plane that made the first non-stop flight around the world was badly damaged in a crash landing yesterday.

Only one man of the 11-man crew suffered injuries.

The Air Force bomber, Lucky Lady II, made its famous flight in 1949.

Yesterday's crash occurred on the desert about two miles southeast of Davis Monthan field. The plane was on a routine test flight.

UMW BENEFITS ARE SUSPENDED

Johnstown, Pa., Aug. 14 (AP)—United Mine Workers President John L. Lewis says there's simply not enough money in the Union Welfare fund to pay benefits to disabled miners, their widows and children.

Lewis blames decreased coal production for the depleted state of the fund which is financed by a 30-cent-a-ton royalty on coal paid by the operators.

The mine leader outlined the fund's difficulties in a letter to Andrew Cline, a member of Barnesboro Local 2010. Cline said he asked Lewis to explain the delay in reinstating certain welfare benefits.

All payments from the fund were stopped several months ago. They were resumed partially July 1 to provide $100 monthly pensions for retired miners. But other benefits such as free hospitalization and medical treatment remained "suspended."

Cline quoted Lewis as saying in his letter: "The trustees have not been able to make effective a program of assistance to disabled miners, widows and dependent children. Money for such a program simply is not available due to market conditions in the industry and the reduced work week resulting therefrom."

Cline said he also asked Lewis concerning the UMW requirement that disabled miners pay $1 monthly dues even when not presently receiving benefits. He said Lewis answered this with: "In view of the fact that current membership in good standing is one of the main eligibility requirements for any benefits from the welfare and retirement fund, I am sure our members will realize the importance of keeping their monthly dues paid up to date."

ASK REVOCATION OF REDS' BAIL

New York, Aug. 14 (AP)—The government has asked a federal court to revoke the bail of the 11 convicted top U.S. Communist leaders and send them to jail as menaces to the nation's security.

The defendants must show cause here next Thursday why the government's motion should not be granted. Attorney General J. Howard McGrath announced yesterday that the request was based on a Department of Justice affidavit which alleged that: "There does not exist any substantial question as to the judgment of conviction x x x, and the defendants have pursued and will continue to pursue a course of conduct and activity dangerous to the public welfare, safety and national security of the United States."

The Communist leaders have been sentenced to prison terms and fines for conspiring to advocate forcible overthrow of the government. All are free in bail except Eugene Dennis, general secretary of the American Communist party, who since has gone to jail for a year in Washington, D. C., for contempt of Congress.

U.S. Attorney Irving H. Saypol said here last night that government prosecutors had decided to proceed immediately against the ten convicted Red leaders still free because of "the urgency of jailing the defendants."

Saypol's affidavit said the danger to life national security was "clear and present," and the intent of the defendants was the overthrow of the government "as speedily as circumstances would permit x x x."

TAKES OVER NEW SECURITY POST

Harrisburg, Aug. 14 (AP)—A Pittsburgh financier and World War II state draft director today took charge of Pennsylvania's overall internal security setup.

He was Richard K. Mellon, 51, who was named over the week-end by Gov. James H. Duff to the job of heading the Commonwealth's military and civil defense preparations.

At the same time Duff promoted Mellon from brigadier general to major general. The appointment gave him precedence over Maj. Gen. Frank A. Weber, state adjutant general, and Judge Vincent A. Carroll, Philadelphia, chairman of the State Civil Defense committee.

Duff said Mellon takes on the new assignment with "an intimate knowledge" of security problems to be solved "by reason of his important affiliations with finance and industry."

Mellon is president of the Mellon National bank in Pittsburgh and a director of some of the nation's largest industrial firms. He was state draft director from 1943 to 1945.

In naming Mellon to the new post, Duff said Pennsylvania presents "one of the most difficult and important overall internal security problems in the nation. Pennsylvania has the greatest concentration of industry of any of the states, vast and intricate transportation and communication systems, tremendous fuel and power production; and in all the important basic industry of steel not only leads all the states but every nation in the world except the United States," he added.

dress and gold accessories. Her ensemble was complemented with a corsage of yellow carnations and blue delphinium. Mrs. Miller, mother of the bridegroom, accented her grey crepe dress with pink accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

A reception for 125 guests followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents. A three-tiered cake centered the bridal table. Summer flowers and candelabra were used throughout the home and garden.

Going With 28th Division
For her going away outfit, the bride chose a navy blue ensemble and orchid corsage. The couple left for a wedding trip of unannounced destination.

Mrs. Miller, a graduate of Gettysburg high school, received her degree from Hood college, Frederick. Prior to marriage, she served a graduate assistantship in the department of physiology, Vassar college, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

Mr. Miller, also a graduate of Gettysburg high school, graduated from Gettysburg college and Dickinson School of Law. He will be associated with the law firm of Nauman, Smith, Slusser and Hall until he enters federal service with the 28th Division, Pennsylvania National Guard, next month.

CLAMP DOWN ON BLIND PENSIONS

Harrisburg, Aug. 14 (AP)—The Commonwealth clamped down today on blind pensions paid to people who turn out not to be so blind after all.

The Public Assistance department began a check of counties where blind pensions exceeded the proportion of blind that can be expected from such a county.

Secretary Frank A. Robbins, Jr., declined to disclose the names of the counties pending the results of the department's probe.

The investigation was touched off by a spot check of conditions in Union county in central Pennsylvania.

Forty-seven of the 108 cases receiving a blind pension in that county were found to have vision better than the minimum prescribed by law. The law says that only people with five per cent or less vision are eligible for up to $40 a month in pension grants.

"The findings indicate that about half of the persons examined (in Union county) had somewhat better vision than the law specifies for eligibility for blind pensions," said Robbins.

The department-employed physician who had examined the Union county cases up until the probe of last July 20 has been dropped from the payroll, said Robbins. He declined to disclose his name.

There are about 15,400 persons receiving blind pensions in Pennsylvania at an annual cost of about $7,300,000. Pensions are paid to blind persons who receive less than $93 a month from other sources.

Fight Manager Is Sought By Police

Philadelphia, Aug. 14 (AP)—Frank (Blinky) Palermo, manager of Lightweight Boxing Champion Ike Williams, was the target of a police manhunt today.

Palermo was sought to answer charges of conspiracy, violation of the firearms law and of threat to kill. Police officials said Palermo may be involved in a battle between numbers racketeers.

Inspector Richard Doyle ordered police to arrest Palermo after two men were held yesterday in $10,000 bail each as the aftermath of a gun battle in south Philadelphia.

Sought along with Palermo are James Singleton, 42, described by Doyle as the fight manager's partner in one of the city's largest numbers banks, and Joseph Coffee, 45, said to be the ring's "strong arm man."

Palermo and his two companions disappeared following an exchange of pistol shots between two speeding sedans late Saturday afternoon, Doyle said.

Bake triangles of pastry, then put together with sweetened sliced fruit; top with a scoop of ice cream.
